The Search Begun Actively, But No Clue as Yet Obtained.

The horrible and atrocious murder, of which Colonel Watson B. Smith was the victim, and of which the full details were given in Saturday morning's Bee, was of course the sensation of Saturday, and still continues to be the subject of consideration among all classes of citizens. From the hour of its discovery until daylight Saturday morning, the remains lay where the unfortunate man was stricken down, being guarded by a detail of police officers.

At 8 o'clock, Coroner Jacobs impaneled a jury consisting of James Stephenson, A. Atkinson, J. B. Furry, J. I. Redick, F. McShane, D. L. Shane, who were sworn in in the hall of the building where the body lay, and viewed the corpse, which was immediately after removed to Mr. Jacobs' undertaking rooms, where a post mortem was set for 10 o'clock. The watch, ring, money and valuables were all found, showing that the robbery was not the object of the crime. In the large pocketbook was

A POSTAL CARD addressed "Watson B. Smith, city," and postmarked "Omaha, October 20th, 12 m." The reverse side of this card bore the words

"HOLD THIS BEFORE A MIRROR." Upon doing as directed the preciously illegible communication was seen to be as follows:

"For a dirty little stinking white headed son of a b--- If you ever interfere with my business again I will cut your --- out as sure as your name is Shister. You dirty hypocrite. You are a tool for a dirty sneak. I will meet you on the cross roads. T. A."

The blanks are supplied, the original being too outrageous for publication.

THE POST MORTEM was conducted by Drs. Geo. V. Ayres, Coffman, Moore, Denise, Gibbs and Mercer. The ball was found to have entered a little in front of the left ear and fractured the bones in a great many places, so that, the scalp being removed, the entire skull was laid open without the use of the saw. The ball passed through the brain and out above and behind the right ear, making a clean passage, while it must have been that a "slung shot" was afterwards used to make sure of the deadly work. The bones were all splintered and small pieces found half way through the brain.

At the conclusion of the post mortem the inquest was begun.

THE INQUEST. The following witnesses were sworn: N. A. Kuhn, John O'Donoghue, Dowd Smith, E. E. Allen, Dr. R. M. Moore, L. M. Day, Dr. Mercer, Coffman, Denio and Ayers, H. L. Moody, and G. M. Lambertson.

The facts elicited were materially as stated above.

HE WAS MURDERED. The jury deliberated and heard testimony until 2 o'clock in the afternoon, when, after a slight consultation, they agreed upon the following verdict of murder.

The jury find that the deceased came to his death at the door of his office in the United States court house and postoffice, in the city of Omaha, Nebraska, after 10 o'clock and fifteen minutes on the night of November 4th, 1881, by a gunshot wound through the head, inflicted by some person or persons to the jurors unknown. And we do further find that the killing was a premeditated and malicious murder. (Signed.) JOHN B. FURRY, JAMES STEPHENSON, T. J. MCSHANE, A. W. PHELPS, D. L. SHANE.

ACTION BY THE CITIZENS. The following bill was issued and distributed about the city Saturday forenoon.

WATSON B. SMITH MURDERED. A meeting of the citizens of Omaha at 3 o'clock, p. m., to express their horror at this terrible crime, and to take such action as may be necessary to assist the legal authorities in the speedy detection of the murderer.

A COMMITTEE OF CITIZENS. MEETING OF THE BAR. When the district court opened Saturday Colonel E. F. Smyth moved that the court adjourn out of respect for the memory of Colonel Watson B. Smith, and, after some discussion, it was so determined. Immediately after adjournment of court a meeting of the bar was called, to take action upon the death of one of their number. On motion, Judge Wakely was unanimously elected president of the meeting. Upon taking the chair the judge made an eloquent and impressive speech, in which he highly eulogized the deceased.

A motion that a committee on resolutions be appointed by the president was carried, and the following gentlemen were named as members of that committee: Col. C. S. Chase, Hon. E. Estabrook, Hon. John I. Redick, Hon. G. W. Deane, Hon. P. O. Hawes, Geo. S. Gilbert, A. N. Ferguson, Hon. J. L. Webster, E. W. Simeral.

A motion was then made to adjourn for a week or more until the cause of Col. Smith's death should have been determined. This motion excited

Mr. Howe said that he doubted the propriety of any meeting of the bar, inasmuch as the deceased was never a practicing lawyer. Gen. Estabrook favored the motion to wait, but making an intention of expressing in the resolutions what he had considered the cause of death.

This motion, however, was overruled, and the meeting adjourned until 4 o'clock Saturday evening, when the committee will reported.

The committee held a session after the bar meeting and finally resolved to adopt immediate resolutions, and appointed a sub-committee of three to draft proper resolutions at some future time. The sub-committee are Hon. G. W. Deane, J. L. Webster and P. O. Hawes.

COMING TO THE FRONT. The following, from the liquor men, is the first offer of a reward. It explains itself:

$500 Reward for the Capture and Conviction of the Murderer of Col. Watson B. Smith. On the night of the 4th of November, Col. Watson B. Smith was murdered at the door of his office in the postoffice building, Omaha. So great a crime should not go unpunished. Justice to the fair name and reputation of this community, as well as the punishment of the offense, require that the person guilty of the heinous crime be found out and punished for his act.

The great wrong of misdirected suspicion to individual interests and personal reputation, as well as social order, demands that every effort be put forth to bring the guilty offender to justice.

Therefore, as an inducement to the officers of the law to be more vigilant in the detection of the guilty one and to aid in the work the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Union of Nebraska freely offer and will pay a reward of five hundred dollars to the person who shall secure the arrest and conviction of the person guilty of the murder of Col. Watson B. Smith.

At a special meeting of the officers of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' union of Nebraska, held this 5th day of November, 1881, by a unanimous resolution of said union, the above reward was offered and will be paid.

P. E. ILLER, President. CHARLES KAUFMANN, Secretary.

THE GOOD TEMPLARS FOLLOW. The following offer of an additional reward of $200 is made by the Good Templars society:

OMAHA, November 5, 1881.—Allow me through your columns to offer a reward of ($200) two hundred dollars for the arrest and conviction of the assassin of Col. Watson B. Smith.

G. W. C. T. of Good Templars. JURISDICTION. The murder having been committed on property owned by the United States, the criminal, if caught, will be subject only to their jurisdiction, if he ever needs any. United States District Attorney Lambertson and the local bar and officers are all at work to strike the trail.

AT THE ACADEMY. The meeting held at the Academy of Music at 3 p. m. Saturday, in response to the citizens' call, was attended by several hundred persons and was an occasion marked by expressions of the deepest sympathy. Absolute solemnity pervaded the assembly and it was in all respects in keeping with the sad circumstances which had called it together. The mayor,

HON. JAMES E. BOYD, was chosen chairman, and upon assuming that position said:

"The whole community is shocked at the tragedy which occupies all minds and moves all hearts. A most atrocious crime has been perpetrated in our midst. One of the most worthy, prominent and unoffending citizens has been stricken down by the hand of an assassin in the dead hour of night, and we have met here at this time to take a dispassionate view of the lamentable occurrence, and to decide upon measures to aid the legal authorities in bringing the villain who committed the deed to speedy justice. As a mayor of this city I wish to say that I do not believe that any particular class of our citizens are responsible for this crime. I believe it was the murderous act of some degraded wretch, and that the organization upon which unjust reflection has been cast are equally anxious with us all to have the guilty punished, and I am informed that they have set apart $500 for that purpose. Any action you take as law abiding citizens will receive my hearty co-operation."

PRELIMINARIES. J. B. French was chosen secretary, and upon motion the following committee of seven was appointed by the chair to draft suitable resolutions for adoption by the convention: Dr. Miller, Judge Savage, Fred Nye, J. A. McShane, Horace Newman, O. F. Davis and G. W. Hall. Judge Savage being absent, owing to his vacation as district judge, Gen. Estabrook was appointed in his place.

While the committee was out Hon. John L. Webster spoke at some length in regard to the action appropriate for the meeting, of the shocking and atrocious character of the crime, and of the high standard of character in both public and private life attained by Col. Smith.

THE RESOLUTIONS were then reported to the meeting as follows:

"Whereas, Col. Watson B. Smith, a citizen universally esteemed by all good men in the community for his high Christian character and personal worth, has been stricken down by the hand of an assassin in the prime of his manhood and in the midst of his usefulness, the citizens of Omaha, assembled in mass meeting for the purpose of expressing the sentiments upon a crime so atrocious, and of doing what they may to aid the authorities to vindicate the outraged laws, do resolve

1. Intelligence of the murder of Colonel Watson B. Smith has been received by all classes of people in this city with deep sensibility and profound regret.

2. That a crime so utterly unprovoked, brutal and infamous, could be committed in a community so distinguished for its law-abiding character and freedom from the higher crimes, and from a man who was so conspicuous for his kindness of heart and inoffensive disposition and demeanor toward all men, gives just cause for alarm for the safety of society; and we hold it to be the high duty of every citizen of this state and city to exhaust every lawful effort to aid the authorities in bringing its perpetrator, or perpetrators, to speedy justice and condign punishment.

3. The reported action of Hon. Albinus Nance, the governor of the state, in offering a reward for the arrest and conviction of the murderer of our old and lamented fellow-citizen, is received by us with great satisfaction.

4. In the untimely death of Col. Smith the state and city in which he has lived so long and abundant cause to lament the tragic fate, and to deplore the loss of an honorable, high-minded and useful citizen, whose name was without blemish, and whose upright and manly life was without stain.

5. The heartfelt sympathy of the people of this city are hereby tendered to the stricken wife, fatherless children, and the bereaved kindred of the deceased in their irreparable loss of an affectionate and devoted husband, father, son and brother, and the secretary of this meeting is hereby requested to transmit a copy of these resolutions to the mourning wife and parents of the deceased.

Dr. Miller, in speaking on the resolutions, added a fitting tribute to the life and character of Col. Smith, deplored the crime as a blow to the social order and good name of the city, which he thought should now rise up and vindicate the majesty of the law. The villain should be pursued with the utmost energy, and the method of bringing about vigorous measures, by raising a fund by subscription, was advocated.

United States District Attorney Lambertson, in a pointed address, said, among other things: "The crime was committed in the postoffice building, and I have notified the department and believe they will send a detective here to hunt the assassin. And I believe that such was the love of the department for this man that they will join with the state in seeing that the assassin is not only hunted down, but that the hide is stripped from his back when he is found."

General John C. Gowen said that "all felt the bullet that struck down Watson B. Smith. I understand this meeting is for a nation, not for a city. We are here to devise ways and means, and to see that the death of this man is properly punished, and to see that the good name of the state and the community is properly protected. The matter will be thoroughly investigated, and the man who stood in the hall of the United States court house waiting for his victim is bound to be discovered. Murder will out!"

Chas. J. Green said that there is no class in the community who have more anxiety to bring the assassin to justice than those who have disagreed with Col. Smith.

Gen. Estabrook declared that but for the merest accident he himself would have been assassinated several days ago and he was liable to be the next victim. He attributed the death of Col. Smith to rum, and claimed that the atmosphere of Omaha is tainted with murder. He said the motive of the assassination was known to all. That the death of Col. Smith was due to the part he had taken in temperance matters. He mentioned the fact that a certain saloon-keeper had placed a skull and crossbones on his saloon windows, with the inscription "Sacred to the memory of Watson B. Smith." "Now do you see the motive?" asked Gen. Estabrook. "Is he believed in enforcing the law at all hazards?"

Rev. J. W. Harris, pastor of the Baptist church (Col. Smith's church), in an extended speech said that Col. Smith died a martyr to his principles and hoped that the people here will see that law and order are preserved. "I look forward to the judgment day and I see them gathered before the throne. 'There is no condemnation to them that are in Christ Jesus.' And I see Watson B. Smith standing in the army of the redeemed, with no enemy in his heart toward his murderer, standing on the other side, among the condemned."

Hon. A. J. Poppleton spoke with great feeling about the terrible death of his friend, and impressed the audience with necessity and importance of making every effort in their power to ferret out the assassin, in the interest of public morals and safety. The resolutions having been adopted,

RAISING THE REWARD. Hon. A. E. Touzalin proposed a plan for raising $10,000, one-half of the amount to be at once offered as a reward for the arrest and conviction of the assassin. The plan being adopted, the following contract was entered into:

"We, whose names are here signed, agree to pay to James E. Boyd, mayor of Omaha, the sums of money hereunto subscribed by us, any unexpended portions thereof to be refunded proportionately to us. The purpose of this subscription is to raise a total sum of ten thousand dollars, five thousand dollars of which is to be used as a reward for the apprehension and conviction of the murderer or murderers of Watson B. Smith, the remainder to be under the control of James E. Boyd and to be used by him for such purposes as he may deem wise and proper to secure the just punishment of the murderer or murderers. A board of trustees, consisting of three persons, shall constitute an advisory board with whom Mr. Boyd may consult in declaring on plans of action necessary to be pursued."

SUBSCRIBERS. J. E. Boyd, $100; A. E. Touzalin, $200; A. J. Poppleton, $100; Herman Kouts, $100; J. B. Furry, $100; Max Meyer, $100; John A. McShane, $100; C. B. Huberman, $100; L. B. JAMES E. BOYD. On behalf of the citizens of Omaha.

The governor's telegram was as follows:

LINCOLN, November 5. H. Greely, Deputy Sheriff. Ask the sheriff to send official notice to-day. I will issue proclamation at once offering reward.

ALBINUS NANCE, Governor.

This swells the sum of the offered reward to $5,900, the governor's being limited by law to $200.

THE GOOD TEMPLARS. At a special meeting of the Good Templars Saturday evening the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we, the members of the I. O. G. T., feel deeply the loss of our fellow citizen and worker in the temperance cause, Col. Watson B. Smith, and we do hereby tender our sympathy to the friends and relatives of the deceased.

Resolved, That we use every endeavor to bring the assassin to justice.

Resolved, That as the work in which he was engaged was a branch of our work, and as he was working under our banner, that we deeply regret the loss of a temperance worker, a Christian man and a law-abiding citizen.

Resolved, That we earnestly pray that condign punishment may be meted out to the villain in due time.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the bereaved family.

(Signed) W. J. WARD, W. J. ANDREWS, E. P. REYNOLDS.

THE BEREAVED FAMILY returned from David City, where Mrs. Smith and two children had been visiting, at 3:25 p. m. Saturday, the Union Pacific officers holding the train at David City until preparations for the sad journey were complete. Deputy U. S. Marshal Hastings met the family at Valley and accompanied them to this city.

The body of the dead man was removed at 4 p. m. Saturday from the coroner's rooms to his late residence. His office in the postoffice building is draped in mourning, and the flag flying at half-mast. The Baptist church also wears the sombre tokens which have been worn by the nation during this fall.

THE FUNERAL takes place at 2 p. m. to-day, from the First Baptist church, on Fifteenth and Davenport streets.

NO DEVELOPMENTS were made yesterday, though the assassination continued to occupy all minds, furnish the only theme of conversation. The more the matter is investigated, the more mysterious it becomes. There is a large force of local detectives at work, and yesterday two of Pinkerton's men arrived from the east. Theories are plentiful, but the chances of an early capture are not great.

SERIOUS SMASHUP.

A Horse Killed and Two Wagons Smashed.

Friday morning, while a number of teams were standing at the Tenth street crossing, waiting for the passage of a freight train, two large horses attached to the wagon of Frisco & Co. (Omaha Safe company), became frightened at the escape of steam from an engine. The frantic animals at first plunged forward, and then to one side, completely wrecking the wagon which was behind them.

Among the other teams there was a single horse and democrat wagon, belonging to George Collins, a second-hand stove dealer on Douglas street. The pole of the safe wagon was plunged into the side of Collins' horse, and a hook on the end pierced the poor animal's flanks, tearing a gaping wound about a foot in length. Collins' wagon was entirely demolished. After one or two more fierce lunges one of the frightened team fell and they were secured without further danger. Collins' horse will probably die. The total loss by the accident, including the value of the horse, is nearly $400.

RAIL ROAD RUMBLES.

The Fast Trains From Chicago and to Denver.

Several residents of Omaha were on the first "limited express" on the Pennsylvania Central line, which ran from New York to Chicago in twenty-six hours. They speak of the ride as a most delightful one, and unattended by a delay or accident. Every train thus far on this fast line has made its time, and the experiment is an assured and triumphant success.

The Union Pacific train from the west, known as No. 4, made up two hours and three quarters Friday afternoon in her run in and arrived only an hour behind time. The delay was caused by the Central Pacific train being four hours late.

About two hundred emigrants went westward Saturday. There were in the goodly proportion of Americans in the number. A young couple, who met each other for the first time at the transfer depot in the afternoon, concluded to take the trip together and so were made as one by a justice of the peace on this side.

EXPEDITING STAR ROUTES. In connection with the new mail service on the Denver "short line" it is learned that the carrying of the mail from Julesburg to Denver will "expedite" two or three star routes between these points to the extent of doing away with them. The saving to the government by this will more than pay for the new mail route.

The Union Pacific road has consented to carry pouches of mail to all points between here and Julesburg free of charge until the new mail cars shall be built and put on. By these arrangements for mail service on the "short line" the government is not only not put to additional expense, but will actually save money. Some very nice figuring has been done in arranging these matters, for which the postoffice officials here should receive no small share of the credit.
